Example of Collaboration Script

Collaboration Script

1. Submit [text] in your own personal discussion forum in Blackboard. Find your forum under the menu item "Discussion fora". You submit your text by placing it in the discussion post you create (select the Create Thread button).

2. Read texts from two other participants as a minimum and give them feedback. One of the participants must be the person listed below you in the list of discussion fora. You may select the other participant as you please, but you may give feedback on texts by several participants. Post your feedback in the relevant participant's personal discussion forum by creating a "Reply" to their discussion post.

3. Read the feedback comments on your own text. Describe and give arguments as to which comments you found helpful and therefore wish to use in your further text work. It is not compulsory to change anything in your text – this is entirely up to you. Write this in a "Reply" to your own discussion post in your personal discussion forum.

4. Submit a revised version of your text. Insert this in a new "Reply" to your own discussion post in your personal discussion forum. You should do so even if you did not make any changes in your text.

Aflevering af tekst → Feedback → Ændrings strategi → Aflevering af revideret tekst

To the left you will find an excerpt from a Discussion Board in the course.